

SOUTHERN CONNECTIONS

WINTER 2025

Dear SNRS Family,

As I sit down to write my final message as President of the Southern Nursing Research Society, my heart is full. It is difficult to capture the depth of gratitude I feel as we prepare to gather for our 2026 Annual Conference, and I conclude this extraordinary chapter of service.

What I can say with absolute certainty is this: serving as your President from 2024 to 2026 has been one of the most meaningful and treasured experiences of my career.

When I began this term, our 2024 conference theme invited us to reflect on connection, to strengthen the bonds that make SNRS so special and to honor the collective spirit that carries our science forward. You embraced that challenge beautifully. You reminded me, time and again, that collaboration is not just a value of this Society, it is our lifeblood. You welcomed new scholars, expanded partnerships, and created the kind of inclusive, supportive community that defines who we are.

In 2025, we leaned into innovation, exploring new methods, new technologies, and bold new questions that continue to shape the future of nursing science. I watched our members stretch, reach, challenge the status quo, and push the boundaries of what is possible. Your courage to think differently and your compassion to apply that innovation toward improving health and equity left me deeply inspired.

And now, as we look to our 2026 theme of resilience, I see clearly how SNRS embodies that word in every way. This Society has shown resilience in our research, resilience in our advocacy, resilience in our mentoring, and resilience in our unwavering commitment to making a difference in the lives of the individuals and communities we serve. You have demonstrated that nursing research is not only about generating knowledge, but also about generating hope.

Charleen McNeill

PhD, MSN, RN
President

Being part of this journey with you has changed me. I have been inspired by your scholarship, strengthened by your camaraderie, and humbled by your trust. Every poster I walked past, every plenary I listened to, every conversation in a hallway or breakout room reminded me how fortunate I am to be part of this vibrant and caring community. You have given me far more than I could ever give in return.

I also want to acknowledge the incredible growth we have seen during these two years:

- Growth in membership and engagement,
- Growth in diversity of scientific thought,
- Growth in mentorship networks and leadership development,
- And growth in our presence and influence across the Southern region and beyond.

This momentum belongs to you, to your dedication, your brilliance, and your willingness to lift one another up. SNRS is stronger today because of each member who believed in the power of our mission.

As my term concludes, my heart is at peace knowing the future of SNRS could not be in better hands. It is with absolute joy and confidence that I pass the gavel to Dr. Mercy Mumba, a visionary leader whose passion for nursing science and commitment to our region will continue to elevate this Society. I have no doubt that under her guidance, SNRS will soar to even greater heights rooted in our history, strengthened by our values, and propelled by her extraordinary leadership.

To all of you, members, mentors, students, colleagues, and friends, thank you. Thank you for your support, your kindness, your encouragement, and your faith in me. Thank you for making SNRS not just a professional society, but a community of heart. Serving as your President has been the honor of a lifetime.

With deep gratitude, warm affection, and unwavering pride in our shared work.

CALL FOR VIDEOS FOR OUR 40TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE ANNIVERSARY

As SNRS proudly celebrates the 40th Anniversary of our Annual Conference, we want to hear from YOU, our dedicated members, colleagues, and friends in nursing research, to join us in marking this milestone in a meaningful way.

We're creating a collective celebration by asking you to submit a short video wishing SNRS a happy 40th Anniversary! and telling us what makes this community so special. Has SNRS boosted your professional journey? Sparked your research passion? Connected you with amazing colleagues and friends? We want it all! In your video, please also share how nursing research can impact the future of health and healthcare. Imagine the impact of voices from across our community coming together to honor four decades of advancing nursing science.

To show your SNRS pride, consider wearing blue, gold, or conference-themed apparel in your video. Recording is simple, use your cellphone or Zoom to record your video. It must be one minute or less. Please send your video submission to info@snrs.org and get ready to inspire! Your story could be featured at the 2026 SNRS Conference.

From all of us at SNRS, thank you for being an essential part of our journey. Let's make the 40th Anniversary Conference unforgettable together!

Student Network Revitalization

We're thrilled to announce that the SNRS Student Network is active again and stronger than ever! Our renewed Student Network is committed to supporting the next generation of nursing researchers through collaboration, education, and networking.

Whether you're just beginning your research journey or looking to expand your existing work, the Student Network offers resources and connections to help you succeed.

What to Expect at a Student Network Virtual Event:

- Meet our new leadership team in a casual virtual setting
- Network with fellow nursing students in breakout rooms
- Learn how to get involved with the SNRS Student Network
- Q&A session with the new officers

Why Attend a Student Virtual Event?

These events are the perfect way to make connections that could enhance your nursing research journey. Our network brings together nursing students interested in research to create valuable networking and learning opportunities.

Contact: Ilana Logvinov at ilana.logvinov@ucf.edu if you have any questions

Student Network Webinar Recap

The Student Network recently hosted an engaging webinar titled “Student Network Leaders – Tips and Tricks to Be a Student and Still Be a Human.”

The session focused on practical strategies for balancing academic demands with personal well-being.

Key topics included:

- Connections with Your Cohort – Building supportive peer relationships.
- Searching and Saving the Literature – Efficient methods for organizing research.
- Building Writing Habits – Tips for consistency, including writing groups.
- Time Management Tricks – Tools and techniques to stay on track.
- Interactive Q&A – Addressing participant questions and sharing experiences.

Florida Atlantic University's Cheryl A. Krause-Parello, PhD, RN, FAAN Awarded Prestigious Fulbright U.S. Scholar Award
Dr. Cheryl A. Krause-Parello, FAU's associate vice president for research, has been honored with the Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program award for the Germany International Education Administrators Program for the 2025-26 academic year. During her time in Germany, she will study research and educational systems, focusing on university funding and research support. She plans to strengthen FAU's global partnerships, expand student and faculty exchanges, and explore collaborations with the Max Planck Society, building on FAU's existing relationship with the Max Planck Florida Institute for Neuroscience.

Dr. Krause-Parello, a globally recognized researcher and founder of C-P.A.W.W.®, has over 24 years of experience in higher education. She also serves as the associate executive director of FAU's Institute for Human Health and Disease Intervention, driving initiatives to advance health care and support Florida's communities. Her Fulbright award highlights FAU's commitment to impactful, interdisciplinary research with worldwide reach.

The Fulbright Program, established in 1946, fosters international collaboration and has supported over 400,000 scholars, including Nobel Laureates and global leaders. For more information, visit fulbrightprogram.org.

THE HEART STUDY

INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE

- Share your voice as a clinician on a labor and delivery unit
- Help me complete my dissertation research
- I need just 20–30 minutes of your time

The HEART study is my dissertation research project exploring how stress and emotional processing influence decision making among clinicians on labor and delivery units.

You can participate if:

- You are a nurse, midwife, or physician working half-time or more
- You are not a traveler
- You attend hospital-based births
- Your hospital is in one of the following 14 states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia

WHAT'S INVOLVED?

- Complete an online, one-time, anonymous survey (approx. 20-30 min).
- The first 250 participants who complete the survey will be offered $10.

WHY PARTICIPATE?

Your input will help advance research that supports higher performing team care for patients on labor and delivery.

Health for All RIIG Overview

We want to extend my heartfelt gratitude to all members of the Health for All RIIG. Your dedication, insight, and commitment to advancing equity in health research continue to inspire meaningful progress.

Thank you for the passion you bring to our shared mission and for the support you show one another throughout the year. Wishing each of you a joyful, restful, and fulfilling holiday season.

Health for All RIIG Writing Group: Quarterly Updates:

Our Health for All RIIG Writing Group had a strong start and quickly became a meaningful space for collaborative writing, peer feedback, and shared learning. We also launched a position/call-to-action manuscript effort, forming a team of 15 members and developing an outline, with plans to move into writing and prepare for a 2026 publication submission.

We held our first spotlight presentation, where a member presented their work, encouraged discussion, and explored opportunities for collaboration. These sessions helped us better understand each other's research and strengthened connections across the group. More spotlight presentations are planned during monthly meetings.

We were honored to host Dr. Santa Maria in November as she shared insights from her groundbreaking research with young people experiencing homelessness, focusing on HIV and substance use prevention. She also discussed the challenges and strategies of NIH grant writing, offering valuable guidance on navigating the process and securing funding.

We looked forward to continued collaboration in advancing health for all through research and innovation.

Member Highlights:

Congratulations to Drs. Nisha Mathews and Nitha Joseph Mathew on their recent publications. Please see their articles listed below:

- Joseph, J., & Mathews, N. (2025). Impact of critical thinking on internationally educated nurses in addressing the social determinants of health. The ABNF Journal: Official Journal of the Association of Black Nursing Faculty in Higher Education, Inc., 1(2), 7–12.

Recognitions

Dr. Jean Hemphill - 2025 Nursing Excellence Award – Nursing Education- Tennessee Nurses Association

Dr Nitha Mathew Joseph has been appointed to the American Nurses Association Minority Fellowship Program's National Advisory Committee for the term from Jan. 1, 2026, to Dec. 31, 2028.

Dr Doncy Eapen- 25 Outstanding Texas Nurses- 2025- Texas Nurses Association

Success stories that demonstrate your RIIG's impact on nursing science

The qualitative RIIG was established in December 2024 under the leadership of Dr. Doncy Eapen, Chair, and Dr. Alasia Ledford, Co-Chair. The RIIG currently has approximately 33 members, including doctoral students and early-, mid-, and senior-career nurse scientists who share a strong commitment to qualitative research. Although we are only approaching our one-year anniversary, the RIIG has already achieved several important milestones. These include an editorial currently under review, a webinar completed in August 2025, a second webinar planned for December 2025, and a symposium accepted for presentation at the upcoming SNRS Annual Conference.

We meet monthly, and our meetings are consistently productive. We are fortunate to have a vibrant group of nurse scientists who are actively engaged in a wide range of RIIG initiatives.

Systems Science and Comparative and Cost-Effectiveness Research (S2CER2) Postdoctoral Research Training Program

What is S2CER2?

Systems science and comparative and cost-effectiveness research training program aims to train the next generation of nurse scientists to design and study systems and models of care. S2CER2 is an NINR-funded pre- and postdoctoral fellowship program (T32NR014205) that will provide nurse scientists with knowledge and skills to conduct research in systems and models of care delivery. Fellows are provided with research training opportunities to address real-world problems affecting patients, providers, and healthcare systems.

What Does the Postdoctoral Fellowship Offer?

Mentoring: Fellows are matched with faculty mentors, including nursing and interdisciplinary scientists, who advise them as they pursue one or more original research projects. Faculty guide postdoctoral fellows to create training opportunities as they launch careers as nurse scientists. Our faculty mentors are nationally recognized NIH-funded researchers whose studies focus on how to design care models to effectively address patients' needs and ensure the best care across multiple settings (e.g., primary care, home-based, long-term). Postdoctoral fellows develop their research projects with faculty mentorship.

Research Environment: Columbia Nursing creates an optimal environment for research. S2CER2 trainees have a unique opportunity to access resources at the university and medical center, including Columbia's Mailman School of Public Health. Examples of mentors' NIH funded R01 research:

- Nurse Practitioner workforce to improve care for elderly (e.g., chronically ill, dementia)
- Team-based care to increase primary care capacity and improve outcomes
- Home-based care
- Palliative care
- Infection prevention and control
- Technology in new care delivery models
- Organizational Interventions

Seminars: Trainees take part in a variety of research and career development seminars, including those offered by the Center for Health Policy (CHP), Center for Healthcare Delivery Research & Innovations (HDRI), Columbia Nursing's Office of Scholarship and Research Development.

Who is eligible to apply?

- Registered nurse with a PhD (dissertation defended within the past 3 years) from an accredited university.
- All applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

S2CER2 trainees receive the following:

- Salary: $72,116
- Tuition, Fees, and Health Insurance
- Funds to travel to one scientific meeting annually; additional funds are available to support research activities, as needed.

BECOME A LEGEND AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Join our Legendary Faculty

Embark on a journey of discovery and impact at Alabama's largest university. Dive into groundbreaking research, mentor the next generation, and spark transformative change across local, national and global landscapes. The University of Alabama Capstone College of Nursing currently has openings for tenure track or tenured faculty positions.

The Saxon Endowed Chair in Rural Nursing is a 9-month position for a highly accomplished scholar who has a record of collaborating with faculty and students to plan, design, conduct, evaluate and disseminate rural-focused nursing research and scholarship activities.

CCN also invites applications for a 9-month position with a specialization in artificial intelligence and its application across nursing and healthcare environments.

Become an Expert in Translating Research Evidence into Clinical Practice

The Translational Research and Implementation Science for Nurses (TRAIN) Program is a funded fellowship opportunity for Doctor of Nursing Practice students from communities underrepresented in science

- Gain hands-on mentored experience on a National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute mission-relevant clinical or health services research project
- Participate in a dynamic curriculum on health disparities and translational research methods
- Build technical, communication, and leadership skills for translational research
- Develop an interdisciplinary network of colleagues and professional mentors

Program Dates: May 26 - August 15, 2026
Application Deadline: February 17, 2026
